Art Unit: 3653

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zouzoulas in view of Jen.

Zouzoulas shows in figure 5 the bank note cassette 200 having the rectangular case with slot 227 and a handle 206. To modify Zouzoulas' handle for one which is foldable would be obvious in view of the teachings of Jen which discloses in figure 2a the pivotable or "foldable" handle which is moved to a horizontal or parallel storage position and to a vertical or perpendicular carrying position. Note that the foldable handle is locked in both positions (see page 1, col. 2, lines 44-49) by the ball 23 and detents 223, 224.

3. Claims 2-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Mays et al is cited disclosing another type of cassette with a handle 40.
